

When life happened ...

If you or someone you know left without finishing a bachelor's degree, we want you back!

Kentucky's colleges are working together through Project Graduate to help Kentuckians with 90+ credit hours get back in so you can finish your degree once and for all.

Project Graduate colleges offer incentives to entice former students back. Incentives vary but may include:

- 🎓 tuition assistance
- 🎓 priority enrollment
- 🎓 personal graduation plan
- 🎓 application fee waivers
- 🎓 personal advising
- 🎓 and a simplified admissions process!

Your campus advocate is standing by to help you take advantage of incentives and quickly navigate the admissions process.

To get the ball rolling, follow these steps:

Step 1 – Get Qualified

Project Graduate is limited to students who have earned 90+ credit hours at a participating institution. If you aren't sure how many credits you have earned, contact your registrar's office.

Step 2 – Talk to Your Campus Advocate

Your advocate will help you evaluate your credits, develop a graduation plan and point you in the right direction to find the right resources for you.

Step 3 – Get Funding

Talk to your Project Graduate Campus Advocate and visit KHEAA.com to learn about the financial aid options available to you.

Step 4 - Enroll

Know that you KnowHow2GO, the only thing left to do is to GO. The path may not be easy but you are already four steps closer... get the cap and gown ready!

Welcome Back!

A photograph of a smiling family of four—a young boy, a young girl, a woman, and a man—posed together in a grassy field. The photo is partially obscured by the 'Welcome Back!' text and the bottom of the page.
